Re: Traffic calming on Stanford Avenue

Dear Commission,

It seems to be working! I am pleased to report that since the stripping of Stanford Avenue and installation of the automatic speed signs, traffic seems to have slowed. I would not say the problem has been solved, but there is a difference on average.

We still have some who seem to blow-off the danger. It may well require intermittent enforcement by a motor officer for them to get the message.

Thank you very much for your attention to this problem.

Sincerely,

Harry T. Pearce
