FREE SUMMER CONCERT SERIES OPENS AT EASTGATE PARK

Another summer of good times and great music await at Garden Grove's 2011 Free Summer Concert Series. The concert series kicks off Thursday, July 14, at 6:30 p.m., with Hollywood U2, a U2 tribute band. A total of eight concerts, presented by the Garden Grove Community Foundation, will be held through September 1. The first six concerts will take place at Eastgate Park, located at 12001 St. Mark Street, at the west end of Chapman Avenue; the last two concerts will be held at the Village Green, located on the corner of Euclid and Main Streets.

Hollywood U2, described as the world's leading U2 tribute band, promises a great performance that will rock the park. The band members have been performing together since 2005 and their vast experience has taken them around the world.

The first concert also celebrates July as Parks and Recreation Month with free activities including inflatables, arts and crafts, and various vendors selling food and treats. The fun begins at 5:30 p.m. For the safety and enjoyment of all, no canopies, golf carts, or alcohol are allowed in the park.
